

REVEALED

A sunset scene with a bright sun low on the horizon, casting a golden glow over a range of dark mountains. The sky is filled with soft, orange-tinted clouds.

$25,000 SUCCESS FACTOR THAT NEVER FAILS

- Moses used it 2,000 years ago
- Millionaires and Billionaires use it
- The most successful people of the past and present use it
- Guaranteed to work for you too...
... if you use it!

Ivan Zitek

$25,000 SUCCESS FACTOR THAT NEVER FAILS

Copyright © 2013 by Ivan Zitek

Printed in Canada

“ When you sell a man a book you don’t sell him just twelve ounces of paper and ink and glue – you sell him a whole new life.”

- Christopher Morley

“I will put my law in their minds and write it on their hearts”.

- Jeremiah 31:33

Ivan Zitek
98 Twin Willow Crescent
Brampton, Ontario
Canada L7A 1K2

FOREWORD

For thousands of years the power of written words have changed people's lives and our civilization forever. Many of the most successful and wealthiest people who ever lived from the past and present have used , are using and will be using in the future, the amazing power of written words.

Many were poor, homeless, and hopeless when they started to apply the power of $25,000 Success Factor That Never Fails. Then a miracle happened and their lives were changed forever.

It was written in the Bible two thousand years ago... that Moses used the power of the written word while leading his people from slavery in Egypt.

“At the Lord’s direction Moses kept a written record of their progress.”
Numbers 33:2

Here are some of the well known and most successful people who credit the power of the written word, $25,000 Success Factor That Never Fails.

Leonardo da Vinci, Benjamin Franklin, Andrew Carnegie, Napoleon Hill, Clement Stone, Earl Nightingdale, Charles Schwab, Og Mandino, Jim Rohn, Frank Tibolt, Albert Einstein, Walt Disney, Thomas Edison, Nikola Tesla, Mary Kay, Bob Proctor, Ted Nicholas, Mark Haroldsen, Joe Cossman, Melvin Powers, Jim Straw, Kody Bateman, Jordan Adler, Matt Morris, Sylvester Stallone, Arnold Swartzenegger, Mike Dillard, Michael R. Ellison, Mark V. Hansen, Jack Canfield, Joe Karbo, Robert Ringer, Richard Branson, Ted Leonisis, Jim Carrey, Mike Litman, David Bach, Joe Vitale, Bruce Barton, Sunil Tulsiani, Conrad Hillton - All of those

amazingly successful people credit their success to the incredible power of the written word - $25,000 Success Factor That Never Fails.

The greatest thing you can do is to follow them and copy their success.

I am looking forward to hearing from you, so I can share your success story of how your life has been changed by using $25,000 Success Factor That Never Fails. Start using it and change your life forever.

Ivan Zitek

Write it Down

The palest ink is stronger than the sharpest memory.

Keep Moving

Iron rusts from disuse...Water loses its purity from stagnation, even so does inaction sap the vigor of the mind.

- Leonardo da Vinci

$25,000 SUCCESS FACTOR THAT NEVER FAILS

If you use this proven simple idea daily, It's guaranteed to work for you or anyone who decides to use it!

A $25,000 LESSON . . . Timeless and Ageless . . . For Everybody

Ivy Lee used to be a consultant in New York City. His regular client were Rockefeller, Morgan, Carnegie, the DuPonts and other big shots.

One day Charlie Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Co. asked Lee about his services. Lee outlined them briefly with the statement, "With our services you'll know how to manage better."

"HELL!" shouted Schwab. "I'm not managing as well now as well I know how. What we need around here is not more "knowing" but more "doing"... I'll gladly engage your services at any price."

"You're on", answered Lee. "I can give you a lesson in 20 minutes that will help you get more done tomorrow." "Ok", agreed Schwab, "I have just 20 minutes before train time. What's your idea?"

Lee pulled out a 3 x 5 filing card, handed it to Schwab and told him, "Spend 10 minutes every evening before retiring reviewing the day's work. Ask yourself, "What did I forget, neglect or foul up? What specific steps can I take to prevent these foul ups in the future." What can I do to improve on today's work? Then spend 5 more minutes writing on this card the six things you need most to get done tomorrow." That took 8 minutes. "Now", said Lee, "Put this card in your pocket and the first thing tomorrow morning, look at them every hour on the hour until you've finished it. Then tackle No. 2 the same way. Then do No. 3. Do this until quitting time."

"Don't be concerned if you've only finished two or three, or even if you haven't finished No. 1. You'll be working on the most important. The rest can wait. If you can't finish all with this method, you can't with any other method either, and without this method, you'd probably never even decide which are most important."

"Before making up your next day's list, transfer all your unfinished items to it. Spend the last 5 minutes every day making up a "must list" of the next day's most urgent tasks. After you've tried this method, have your key employees try it. Test it for as long as you like, and then send me a check for what you think it's worth." Schwab sent Lee a check for $25,000 saying:

"This innocent looking little lesson is the most practical lesson I ever learned in all my life. It motivated me to make a phone call that I had put off for 9 months. That phone call brought me an order for steel beams that netted me 2 million dollars. I explained this humble session to all my executives. That did more to make the Bethlehem Steel Co. the world's largest independent steel producer, than all the meetings I held with my high-salaried executives.

Schwab learned, like most great men learn, that the simplest ideas are often the greatest in getting results. This plain little lesson is so plain looking and so plain sounding that many average people won't even try it. It's so plain that its results are almost unbelievable. But it has turned more little shots into BIG SHOTS, that any "secret of success", or any high priced "Motivation Courses". It tops all methods for turning “ordinary” fellows into “extraordinary” producers.

If you think I’m claiming too much for this humble little lesson, let’s look at what bigger and wiser men have said about it.

Walter Chrysler said, “I’ve never started producing until I engaged a taskmaster... a written list of things to be done each day”.

Henry Ford said, “No executive is worthy of the name unless he works to a written schedule”.

Henry Kaiser wouldn’t hire a senior executive who didn’t have the HABIT of scheduling his tasks in WRITING. Ditto Thomas Watson and Lord Nightcliffe.

Both Dr. Charles and Dr. William Mayo of the Mayo Clinic ended their day’s work with WRITTEN lists for the next day’s work. Ditto Clifford Holland of Holland Tunnel fame. Fred Ecker, president of Metropolitan Life daily uses a pad which he heads, to be done today”.

Thousands of other big men in business, industry, banking, education, selling, and other fields, have placed this method at the top of the list of ‘habits that make for success’. You’ll find big producers everywhere, probably in your own company, use some adaptation of this method. For GETTING THINGS DONE, it beats all the fancy, high sounding, and high priced systems ever invented.

So let’s get your must list right away, while it’s on your mind. It’ll only take 5 minutes, and it might mark the turning point in your life as it did for so many others. Since, in making success, the hardest part is always the start, a thing begun is more than half done. So you won’t have any excuse for putting it off, I’m enclosing your first card. Tomorrow buy yourself a dozen packs, a couple of hundred cards.

Use one every day for the rest of your life. No, that's not so difficult. You'll be surprised how quickly the habit will grow into an interesting game... and the MOST PROFITABLE GAME YOU'LL EVER PLAY.

Would you like to hire a dynamic, super-duper assistant who never forgets to remind you, prod you, spur you and nag you to GET YOUR TASKS DONE? A silent advisor who will draw and drive you day and night toward your chief goal in life? If you have no goal in life, it's later for you than you think. Better get one. Without one, you might continue to exist but life will pass you by. You can hire this assistant for the price of a dozen packs of 3 x 5 file cards.

PAPER NEVER FORGETS

If you want a sure fire reminder, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

If you want a manager to prod you out of your laziness, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

If you want to find yourself and your right career, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

If you want to solve a difficult problem, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

If you need a new idea, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

If you want to stick to a difficult task until you finish it, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

If you want to quit a bad habit, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

If you want to acquire a new habit or a new skill, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

If you want to become successful and rich, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

Paul Bauer, a former student said, “Writing down that statement about my goal changed my whole life. Before I wrote it down, it was just ‘some thoughts in my head’. Writing it down on paper 15 years ago changed it to something real, on fire, alive. My previous 15 years of merely thinking about it, was time wasted. Writing it down on paper was like planting a seed in the ground. It grew. Believe me, writing a thing down on paper works and HOW!

Writing a thing down on paper signals the subconscious mind to work on it, to incubate, to gestate, to create... to realize the thing... to turn a wish into a fact.

Why not hire this dynamic, loyal helper, your invisible, silent twin, as your 24-hour assistant? It will triple your memory, double your PRACTICAL intelligence, sustain your ambition and enthusiasm, help speed you to achievement and success... MAKE YOU RICH.

WHATEVER YOU WANT OUT OF LIFE, WRITE IT DOWN ON PAPER.

Copyright @ 2011 by Ivan Zitek

*A $25,000 Lesson...Timeless and Ageless...For Everybody, is reprinted from the book
“A Touch of Greatness” published by Ivan Zitek*

www.ATouchOfGreatness.ca

Highly recommended reading.

It Rained On My Dreams That Day

I was severely depressed. I was not going to do anything drastic, but I was feeling lost and without purpose. It was a drizzly winter night in Tempe, Arizona. Over the years, I had read every self-help book I could get my hands on and none of them helped. That rainy night I was reflecting on my years of struggle. I could not seem to get ahead financially. Every personal relationship I was in seemed to end in a disappointing breakup. Most of all, I'd had big expectations for my life by the time I hit thirty, and so far I was a complete failure. Nothing seemed to be going right.

I threw on a sweatshirt and stepped out into my backyard. It was overcast, cold, and wet. The ground was soggy. I walked about a hundred yards to the railroad tracks that cut across the back of the property. I started walking along the tracks in the rain, contemplating my life's purpose. This was not a positive environment for getting inspired. The night was misty and grey. A wet, cold wind was blowing in from the west cutting across my path. I walked the tracks for about five miles as the rain came down and the wind swirled between the buildings and homes.

As I listened to my thoughts about why I could not get my life together, I reflected on the self-help books I had read over the years. Many of them suggested that I write down my life dreams in a journal. The most successful authors would say that if you want to create something great in your life, you must first write it down like an architect writes out his plans to build a building. I had read this idea many times over the years, but I had never done it. The authors all said that by putting my dreams in writing, on paper, I would be asking the universe to bring me those things that I desire. They suggested I write my dreams in the present tense, as if they had already happened. But for some reason I had never done that exercise.

After getting home and drying off, I decided I would finally apply some of this advice. The next day I went to the store and bought a journal and a felt-tip pen, and I headed for the airport. I worked for an airline then, and I had flight benefits, so I jumped on a small airplane to the Grand Canyon. I had lived in Arizona for about five years and had never visited the canyon. As I deplaned, I noticed the air was fresh and cool. There were pine trees everywhere. I jumped on a shuttle bus that dropped me off in a small parking lot close to the rim of the canyon. No postcard or photo could ever capture the beauty of the Grand Canyon.

After embracing the breathtaking views, I decided to walk out into the forest. I found a quiet place under an old oak tree that stood about three miles into the woods. I sat on the ground and leaned back against the trunk of the tree. I grabbed my new journal and pen and began to write the story of my life as if it had already happened. I wrote in the present tense, and I wrote vividly and clearly. My descriptions were alive and vibrant. For the next few hours, I set aside all my doubts, fears, and apprehensions about what was possible. I simply wrote from a place of complete honesty and possibility. My descriptions included the people, places, and things that are important to me. I wrote about my personal life, my business life, my dreams and desires. I described myself physically, mentally, spiritually, and emotionally.

About two hours into my writing, the weather began to change. In Arizona, in the mountains, the weather can change very rapidly. The wind began to blow and the temperature dropped about twenty degrees. All of a sudden some heavy gray cumulus clouds formed over the top of the mountain where I sat and the temperature dropped another ten degrees. I realized that I should probably begin my journey back because I sensed that it might start raining. I was right. Within a few seconds it began to rain. The rain was cold and the wind continued to blow.

I did my best to hold my journal close to my body to keep it dry, but the pages got soggy. I walked quickly back toward the edge of the canyon as the temperature dropped to about thirty-five degrees. The rain turned into sleet just as I entered the Bright Angel Lodge. I opened my journal. Some of the ink had run down the damp pages.

The warmth from the fire burning in the huge fireplace across the room was inviting and filled the room. I sat down on some colourful cushions next to the fire and continued to write the story of my life. For the next few hours, I lost myself in my future life, but as I wrote it, I began to live it in my mind as if it had already happened. Later I would realize that this was the most important moment on the whole journey.

I got back on the plane and headed for Phoenix. Just as the self-help gurus suggested, I placed my journal next to my bed on my night stand, which was two cinder blocks and a piece of wood. Every night for the next year I would read one or two pages from it. Each time I read, I got more and more excited. I anxiously awaited my new life.

A year had gone by, and nothing from my journal had come true. Not one thing. I felt duped! Once again, I had failed. What was wrong with me? I took that little journal and threw it in a box in my closet and forgot about it.

Seven years later...I smile at my girlfriend as we continue to unload my new cabin furniture into the living room of my dream home in the forest. My new home is a beautiful log-sided mountain retreat with a huge wraparound deck and cathedral ceilings. It backs up to national forest land, and I have pine trees growing up through the wooden decks. The air is fresh and clean. When a breeze blows, the trees sound just like the ocean. The air is so clean that when you breathe it almost hurts your lungs! At night, the Milky Way looks like a streak of smoke cutting across the sky. It's pure heaven.

As I am opening boxes, I notice a journal on top of a pile of books. It was the journal that I had written at the Grand Canyon seven years earlier. I opened the journal, read the first two pages, and started to cry. Everything in this journal had come true in my life. I now had the home of my dreams. I was driving the car of my dreams. I was physically fit and happy. I had an amazing girlfriend who has become my lifetime friend and I had a passive residual Beach Money income of over $30,000 per month that allowed me to travel the beaches of the world. I had found my dream life.

I really don't know why this works. I am not a psychologist or metaphysicist. But I do know that if you grab a pen and notebook and find a quiet, inspiring place where you can write for a few hours, you can do the exact same thing that I did and continue to do each year of my life. Consider writing the story of your future life in the present tense, as if it had already happened. Set aside all your fears, doubts, and apprehensions about what's possible, and just write as if you were a child again, dreaming from your heart. Write until you have your entire life exactly how you want it. Then read one or two pages a night for about a year and then throw it in a box.

It Rained On My Dreams That Day,
reprinted with permission from Jordan Adler author of "Beach Money."
www.BeachMoney.com
Highly recommended reading.

Do It Now!

Do not wait; the time will never be "Just Right". Start where you stand, and work with whatever tools you may have at your command, and better tools will be found as you go along.

- Napoleon Hill, Author of Think and Grow Rich

Next Time You Feel Like Quitting... remember this story

At the age of 22 he failed in business.

At 23 he ran for state legislator and failed.

At 24 he failed in business again.

At 26 his sweetheart died – he was broken hearted.

At 27 he had a nervous breakdown.

He regained his health at 31 and ran for state elector.

At 34 he ran for Congress and was defeated.

At 39 he ran for Congress and was defeated again.

At 46 he ran for the Senate and was defeated.

He lost his race for Vice President at 47.

At 49 he ran for the Senate again and was defeated.

AT 51 he ran for and was elected to the office of President of the United States of America (1860).

His name was Abraham Lincoln.

Keep Sowing!

Keep sowing your seed, for you never know which will grow - perhaps it all will!

- Albert Einstein

Today's "MUST" List

1.
2.
3.
4.
5.
6.

Spend 10 minutes every evening before retiring. NO MATTER HOW TIRED YOU ARE, reviewing the mistakes or foul-ups of the day. What did you forget or foul-up? Think up a specific step to avoid them in the future. Then spend the last five minutes getting up a list of the most important tasks of tomorrow. Carry it with you and read it every hour to remind you, prod you, spur you, and nag you to GET THOSE THINGS DONE.

Practice this exercise every day for 3 months and you'll have s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d yourself to a BIGGER SIZE. Practice it for a full year, and you'll have taken a l-o-n-g stride toward a GREAT new life. Good luck and good wishes on your journey toward that GREAT new life.

Copyright © 2011 by Ivan Zitek

You carry the energy that comes with the idea, write it down.
- Bruce Barton

Never begin the day until it is finished on paper
- Jim Rohn

Mustard Seeds, Shovels, & Mountains

Write it down so you don't forget. It's something you need to do. Unfortunately, all too many people figure they don't need to write it down, because "I can remember that. After all, it is my goal, isn't it?" Maybe so, but as a member of Mensa—the society for people with an IQ in the 99th percentile—I know that that and $1 will usually get me a cup of coffee.

So, I write notes to myself every day. Some of the notes are goals to accomplish, things to do, things I need, and some are just quotes, comments, or ideas.

If you ever visit my office, you will find those little, yellow stick-notes on my desk, on my calendar, on my computer, or on my wall. Once I accomplish the goals I have set for myself, did the things I needed to do, got the things I needed to get, after I have re-read the quotes and comments enough times that they are embedded in my sub-conscious, and I have moved the ideas to my ideas book, I discard those notes.

So, no matter how smart you think you are, write it down so you don't forget.

All of the mind-stuff writers and motivational gurus tell you that you should write down your goals and re-read them every day, morning and evening. That's a very good idea, but I do it a bit differently.

I write it down five or six times each day!

Some years ago, I found that just re-reading what I had written could too easily be interrupted by other thoughts and, because my mind can only think one thought at a time, my mind would succumb to those thoughts.

By physically writing down my goals each and every time I think about them, my mind is preoccupied with only those thoughts relating to those goals.

For instance, way back when (that's a long time ago), remembering what I had learned from Ed in Cabbage Hollow, I wrote down my major goal so I wouldn't forget it. Then, I remembered that Ed also told me to "forget about looking for answers. Learn to ask the right questions. Just remember the words of Rudyard Kipling...

"I keep six honest serving-men

(they taught me all I knew);

Their names are What and Why and When

And How and Where and Who.

Not and answer in the bunch. Just questions. If you ask yourself the right questions, the answers will come to you."

So after writing down my major goal—"I will get rich"—I began to ASK myself the questions to which I needed answers. As those answers came to me, I wrote them down, too. Most of the answers to those questions changed as I matured in the pursuit of my goals.

Two of the most important questions I asked myself were:

Why do I want to get rich?

and

What will I do when I get rich?

The answers to those two questions changed often until I finally settled upon a worthwhile reason to get rich and what I proposed doing once I became rich.

No matter what your goal may be, you must at least answer those two questions: Why do you want to achieve that goal? and What will you do when you have accomplished that goal?

The reason you need to find answers for those two questions is in order to give your goal a purpose—a reason for which you want what you want. Without a purpose, your goals will only be hollow wishes and dreams. As I learned as a lad back in Cabbage Hollow, your goal is “where you are going.” Why you are going there and what you will do when you get there completes the plan for your trip.

Once you have established your purpose for your goal, which will change and have to be rewritten as you mature in the pursuit of your goal, begin asking yourself the other questions as defined by Rudyard Kipling which, of course, will change and have to be rewritten during your trip to your ultimate goal.

As you ask those questions, also determine and write down what physical actions you will need to do in order to find the answers.

I think I just heard someone say, “Didn’t you forget something important? Don’t you have to include an absolute certain date or time by which you will reach your goal?”

Back when I was much, much younger, I followed that advice from the mind-stuff gurus, too, but do you know how demoralizing it can be to reach that date and not see your goal achieved?

As an example, I once wrote down that I would be a millionaire by my 25th birthday (I put in the actual date). On my 25th birthday I was not quite a millionaire, but I was well on my way so I rationalized that I was achieving my goal and I was just a little late. On a weekend shortly after my 25th birthday, my business was burglarized. The burglars had stolen all of my inventory and everything else of any value. I had to start all over again.

From that day onward, I only set dates certain for the accomplishment of physical action. In other words, I would set a date certain by which I would do a certain physical task necessary to the achievement of my ultimate goal. Each time I completed the required physical task, I was one step closer to achieving my goal.

How do you eat an elephant? One bite at a time.

If you have the faith of a mustard seed, you can move mountains...If you get a shovel and start hauling the mountain away one shovel full at a time.

In order to write down my goals, purposes, and the answers to the multitude of questions and any changes to my answers, I kept a spiral notebook entitled "Goals." In that notebook there would be entries that were crossed out and new entries made. That notebook grew in size over the years.

No, I did not write down everything in my goals notebook five or six times each day. I simply wrote down my goal – "I will get rich" – which focused my mind on all of the writings in my notebook.

I would, of course, re-read the entries in my goals notebook frequently and updated the answers to my questions as needed. I'm sure some of my teachers thought I was a little nuts when they found that goal written on so much of my school work. They were sure I was nuts when I also wrote "I will have a new Cadillac!" By keeping my goals notebook and updating it, I kept my mind and actions focused on the achievement of my goals.

Start your own goals notebook today. Keep it updated as you seek the answers you need to achieve your goals.

"Write It Down So You Don't Forget"

reprinted with permission of J.F. (Jim) Straw from his book "Mustard Seeds, Shovels, & Mountains."

www.kallistipublishing.com

Highly recommended reading.

Don't Quit

When things go wrong, as the sometimes will,
when the road you're trudging seems all uphill,
when the funds are low, and the debts are high,
and you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
when care is pressing you down a bit –
rest if you must, but don't you quit.

Life is queer with its twists and turns,
as every one of us sometimes learns,
and many a failure turns about when he might have won had he struck it out.
don't give up though the pace seems slow –
you may succeed with another blow.

Often the goal is nearer than
it seems to a faint and faltering man;
often the struggler has given up
when he might have captured the victor's cup;
and he learned too late when the night slipped down,
how close he was to the golden crown.

Success is failure turned inside out –
the silver tint of the clouds of doubt, and you never can tell how close you are,
it may be near when it seems afar;
so stick to the fight when you're hardest hit –
it's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

The Time Of Your Life

“The great dividing line between success and failure can be expressed in five words:
– I did not have time.”

We Use It Or Lose It!

If you had a bank account that every morning credited your account with $86,400.00, carried over no balance, allowed no cash to remain in the account, and at the end of the day, cancelled what you failed to use – what would you do? Withdraw it fast, correct?

Believe it or not, you do have this account and it is called Time. Each morning it gives you 86,400 seconds. Whatever is not used is lost. There are no balances to carry over to the next day; no overdrafts, and all the records are burned when the day ends. If you don't use the daily deposit the loss is all yours. There are no returns – no drawing against tomorrow. You live in the present on today's deposit. It is up to you to invest and use it wisely... or lose it altogether!

The Power of Habit

I am your constant companion. I am your greatest helper or heaviest burden. I will push you onward or drag you down to failure. I am completely at your command. Half of these things you do might just as well turn over to me and I will be able to do them quickly and correctly.

I am easily managed – you must merely be firm with me. Show me exactly how you want something done and after a few lessons I will do it automatically. I am the servant of all great men; and alas, of all failures, as well. Those who are great, I have made great. Those who are failures, I have made failures.

I am not a machine, though I work with all the precision of a machine plus the intelligence of a man. You may run me for profit or run me for ruin – it makes no difference to me.

Take me, train me, be firm with me, and I will place the world at your feet. Be easy with me and I will destroy you. WHO AM I? I AM HABIT!

Remember: Good habits, once established are just as hard to break as a bad habits. - Robert Puller

Press On

Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; Nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent. Genius will not; Unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; The world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent.

Motivation

The Golden Eagle

A man found an eagle's egg and put it in the nest of a backyard hen. The eaglet hatched with the brood of chicks and grew up with them.

All his life the eagle did what the backyard chickens did, thinking he was a backyard chicken, He scratched the earth for worms and insects. He clucked and cackles. And he would thrash his wings and fly a few feet into the air.

Years passed and the eagle grew very old. One day he saw a magnificent bird far above him in the cloudless sky. It glided in graceful majesty among the powerful wind currents, with scarcely a beat of its strong golden wings.

The eagle looked up in awe. "Who's that?" he asked.

"That's the eagle, the king of birds," said his neighbour. "He belongs to the sky. We belong to the earth – we are chickens."

So the eagle lived and died a chicken, for that's what he thought he was.

What are you? Chicken or Golden Eagle?

You are born to be able to fly with eagles and not 'stick with chickens.' Now is the time to set yourself free and soar...

Come Fly With Me...

JoinIvanNow@gmail.com

Give Yourself Away

“The wise man,” said Lao-tzu, “does not lay up treasure. The more he gives to others, the more he has for his own.”

Have you ever seen a truly generous person who was not genuinely happy? Have you ever seen a miser who was not basically miserable?

Let me share with you one of the most joyous hobbies any human being ever engage in. My hobby is giving something away every day... something tangible, so that I will be reminded to give away the vastly more important tangibles: a smile, a word of encouragement, a phone call or a letter to some lonely person.

Every day I give something away. It may be a book, or perhaps one of my maxims printed on an attractive card. It may be a poster, a flower, a poem, a plaque with a as inspirational message... something that will enrich the life of the recipient.

At the beginning of the day I never know what the gift will be. Nor do I know whom the recipient will be. That's one of the many exciting facets of my hobby... knowing that before the day is done I will have given something good and positive to a fellow human being.

I may not be one of the wise men of whom the great Lao-tzu wrote, but this I know: The more I give to others, the more I have.

Great Second Income!

Part-time or full-time...

This is your opportunity to partner with a proven winner, "The Franchise Alternative". This has never been done before!

- Fully automated system.
- No selling.
- Solid 3-1/2 year old company.
- The hype is missing,. The longevity is proven.
- Ideal for overworked, overstressed professional and small business person.
- Be mentored by our team member self-made millionaire.

FREE information, get it here;

www.ivanzitek.com

This is the true power of income leverage

I'd rather have 1% of the efforts of 100 people than 100% of my own efforts. - J. Paul Getty

Money

Money likes speed. - Joe Vitale

Money is God in action. - Raymond C. Baker

The best way to help the poor is to become rich yourself! - Wallace D. Wattles

Wanted

Are you sick and tired of your job?
Are you sick and tired of your boss?
Are you sick and tired of commuting?
Are you sick and tired of being broke?

If there is a better way to exit the rat race would you take a serious look? If yes, contact me now at:

joinivannow@gmail.com

We All Need A Coach

If you want to go somewhere, it is best to find someone who has already been there.

-Robert Kiyosaki

When you hear about a good thing - something already working for the other fellow: Don't delay, but get in while you can. - John Rockefeller, Billionaire

Find an idea whose time has come, position yourself in front of it, and be the first to tell the world about it. - Warren Buffett, Billionaire Teamwork Works!

Again, I tell you that if two of you on earth agree about anything you ask for, it will be done for you by my Father in heaven. For where two or three come together in My name, there I am with them.

- Matthew 18:49-20

Need Extra Income?

I am looking for five serious people who are willing to work “hard” 2-5 years and retire...

By now I hope you realize that working 40 years for others will never give you freedom...

Only serious people please.

joinivannow@gmail.com

www.ivanzitek.com

My FREE Gift To You!

I don't care what get rich gurus are telling you, you will never get rich in your pocket unless you are rich in your mind first!

www.ataouhofgreatness.ca

The first 5 people who join my team will get this amazing book, “A Touch of Greatness” as my gift. This book has changed thousands of lives, it may do the same for you.

Power of Giving

If ever there is a lack of any kind, whether it is need for employment, or for money, or for guidance, or even healing something is blocking the flow... and the most effective remedy: GIVE!

Free Seminar

Also available, one on one consultation with ...

Ivan Zitek, speaker, author, wellness coach... Want to learn how to discover your true calling, your life passion...

Galileo once said, "You can not teach a man anything; you can only help him find it within himself." This is my life passion, helping others to find that seed of greatness that God planted in each one of us, just waiting for our discovery.

At the centre of your being, you have the answer; you know who you are, and you know what you want. - Lao-Tzu

A Touch of Greatness - 12 lesson self-help program has helped thousands since 1940.

If you are interested in attending a FREE seminar or one on one vocational workshop, and you want to know more about cost and what program will cover, you can check the website or email address shown below;

www.atouchofgreatness.ca

JoinIvanNow@gmail.com

Do It Now

We should be taught not to wait for inspiration to start a thing. Action always generates inspiration. Inspiration seldom generates action.

-Frank Tibolt, Author of "A Touch of Greatness"

About the Author

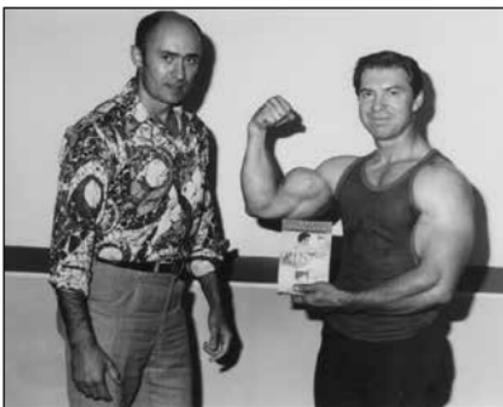

Ivan Zitek is a multi-faceted individual. His field of interests include: speaking, writing, and self-publishing. He also works as a physical fitness instructor, for busy business people and as a small business consultant.

Ivan's first self-published book entitles Super Training System, was in his native Croatian language and was published in 1973.

Ivan's second book in English came about as a result of a near-fatal car accident in 1974. His wife was pregnant with their second child and he was jobless and penniless. He got advice from others who made money selling second-hand goods. Ivan hired himself out as a handyman; cleaning other people's basements, attics, yards and selling the best of the 'junk' at his own garage sales. He supported his family comfortably for over six months with garage sales profits – becoming an expert on the topic.

Largely, although not entirely, because of his garage sale book, Ivan has received considerable media exposure being featured in many newspapers, including two Toronto dailies: the Globe and Mail and The Toronto Star. He had also a one-hour interview on the popular CHCH TV Channel 11 "Cherington" Show in Hamilton. That very same afternoon he was featured on a telephone "hook-up" with the "Kate Young" Show on radio station CFPL of London, Ontario. A few days later he appeared on Toronto TV's popular "Dini Petty" Show.

As a founder and president of Freedom Press, Ivan is presently working on another book project and also holds vocational workshops and one-on-one small business consultations.

Ivan Zitek and his friend Larry Scott,
first Mister Olympia

Contact the Publisher

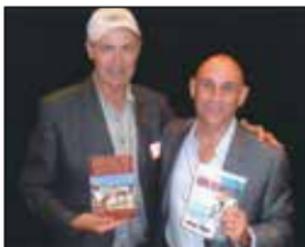

If you want to contact the publisher for placing ads for your business or service in our newsletter: Friends Helping Friends Advisor™, contact the publisher for any additional questions, pricing, etc. at:
JoinIvanNow@gmail.com

The meaning of life is to find your gift, the purpose of life is to give it away.

Have You Found Your Passion Yet?

If not, contact JoinIvanNow@gmail.com

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT $25,000 SUCCESS FACTOR THAT NEVER FAILS

"If you are looking to increase profits, or productivity, then you need to own a copy of "A Touch of Greatness." Jordan Adler, self-made millionaire, author of "Beach Money" - www.BeachMoney.com Claude Rigon, 67 years 'young', says – "It is never too late to become the best you can be. It is a matter of habit and discipline and to have both, I highly recommend for everyone to use daily, $25,000 Success Factor That Never Fails - that was my secret.

"You need to get this old self help book. The lessons in this book are just priceless. My favorite is $25,000 Lesson - this amazing, simple, proven success lesson will never fail you if you use it daily - I am living proof of that, as I went from being a cop, to becoming a real estate millionaire."

Check out my story by reading my eBook entitled: "Cash Cow Properties" or go to my site at: www.PrivateInvestmentClub.ca/ccp [see page 5 & 15]
Sunil Tulsiani